ENJOYING COUNTRY SCENES.

LITTLE GUESTS AND GENEROUS HOSTS.

NOW THE TRIBUNE PRESE-AIR PARTIES ENJOY

THEMSELVES-A GOOD WEEK'S WORK. Chambersbur Penn. Aug. 10.-The four car-loads of Tribune Fresh-Air children which left New-York Thursday morning for destinations in Franklin County, Penn., arrived safely last evening. The trip, being made in the day time, presented unusual attractions. After the train had been boarded and the lunch-baskets attacked with energy, good byes were heartly said to the few remaining friends, and then began to open up a panorama such as many of the little ones had never contemplated before. All chatter ceased; tiny eyes opened wider and wider as the train advanced; picture-books and dolls were thrown aside; and all vied with one another In pointing out the craft and queer things to be en in the river below. Seats by the window were at a premium, and a number rode standing, so that nothing novel should be missed. The short, dark passages at Trenton caused all to scream with delight, and for miles thereafter the attendants were pestered with the query: "Are we going to pass through a Great disappointment was expressed when they learned that such was not the case.

Philadelphia was reached after a ride of two hours nd a half, and during the twenty minutes of waiting the adults of the party were besteged by a storm of questions from passengers of ourgoing trains. It was ere learned that two return parties of the Philadelphia children had just reached the station. The Philadelphia fund took its idea from The Tribune Fresh-Air work, but differs from its model in that it sends the children for only one week, instead of two, and does not furnish an outing to so many children in the course of a summer as does The Tribune Fund. The kindliest interest was manifested in little New Yorkers by the Philadelphians. One gentleman went through the cars with a bunch of bananas and a gererous supply of cake. The children to get tired affer leaving Philadelphia, yet the ride to Harrisburg was not without incident. One sly "shaver," towheaded, and wearing large pair of goggles, improvised a kile out of his handkerchief, a couple of yards of cord and a wooden clothes-pin, and amused both himself and spectators until he was detected by a care-taker and paid the penalty by having his window put down. Two little Italian maids furnished diversion for their friends in the Waynesboro car. They possessed rare musical talent for children, singing duets, rather difficult in time and harmony, prettily, and when asked where they had learned their songs, replied, "In a children's choir at the Five Points Mission."

The party was joined at Harrisburg by J. G. Orr, his wife and daughter and by General J. F. Boyd. superintendent of the Cumberland Valley Road. The services of these two gentlemen were invaluable in distributing the children and seeing that all made proper connections. The first separation took place at Scotland. Eight toddlers were welcomed here by a small assemblage of expectant ladies. The divisions from Waynesboro and Fort Hill, forty-one and seven respectively, were the next to drop off. These changed at Mount Alto Junction. Fayetteville had ordered fifteen or twenty, but the missionary who was to bring these to the ferry falled to appear, and the Fayette hosts were deeply disappointed. ever, these Favette friends will receive their guests, since the caretakers who bring back the party of Thursday will take with them from New-York a small party to fill all vacancies. The reception at Chambersurg could hardly have been more flattering to the lit tle strangers. It was estimated that fully a thousand people turned out to witness the arrival. True, nany came piqued by no other motive than simple curiosity, but the vast majority of the Chambersburg folk told by their smiles and kind words that they ha come to welcome the little boys and girls, and that right royally. The platform and surrounding plots were crowded with people. The children had to be jostled through the crowd into the waiting-room, but that, too, in a minute was overflowing, and the services of two policemen were required to clear breathing space for the "Fresh-Airs."

The apportionment there took place under the super vision of Mr. Orr and Wilmot H. Thompson, who had entire charge of the Franklin County party. The little guests were carried off, some in carriages by the rich farmers of the neighbohood, and many into the best homes of Chambersburg. The contagion was so great that plenty more could have found homes for the two weeks. One little incident had a most happy termination.

A lady had asked for a boy and a girl. When the arrived she seized upon a chubby little East-Sider who caught her fancy, rosy-cheeked and blue-eyed, with the remark, "I want this boy!" As the lists were read and the children's names called with the names of their hosts, the lady began to be prize. Meanwhile, she pictured to him so many visions of the fine times he'd have if he only went home with her, that the little fellow grew anxious, unately, opposite was the name of the lady at his side. Homeward they hurried, it being a hard matter to tell which was the more overjoyed, the boy or his hostess. Reports from Greencastle, State Line, Lemasters, Fort Loudon, Mercersburg and Williamson, the other towns of the county which received children, state that the receptions at these places, though not attended by so many people, were fully as enthusiastic as that at the Chambersburg station. Carlisle, situated in the same valley, is entertaining a party, as are also the people at Newville, Penn. When the train stopped at the latter place a couple of the "Fresh-Airs" recognized some of their New-York companions in the Chambers burg party. They said they were having fine times, and were that day attending a picnic in adjoining woods, given in their honor. Passes were kindly fur nished the care-takers beyond Chambersburg by Superintendent Boyd, since their tickets by mistake were good only to this place.

children are being entertained in the best homes of the valley. T. G. and D. A. Orr, of Chambersburg. editors and proprietors of "The Valley Spirit," have been instrumental through the columns of their paper in introducing The Tribune Fresh-Air work to people of Franklin County. T. G. Orr has personally made all negotiations, and systematically arranged for the reception of the New-Yorkers. He was materially mided by the pastors and other papers of the county Wednesday is billed as the gala day for all the "Fresh-Airs' in Franklin County. The German Reformed Sunday-schools at Shippensburg, Greencastle, Mercersburg. Fort Loudon and Chambersburg have arranged union picnic. The day will be spent at Mount Alto favorite mountain retreat, and free transportation has been promised the New-York children by the Valley road. Their hosts will accompany them, and many others have signified their intention to be present The programme will consist of each school singing one or two hymns, then a grand chorus of all the schools in "Bringing in the Sheaves" and "The Long Metre Doxology." The Shippensburg Cornet Band will discourse instrumental music for the occasion, and in many other ways the young strangers will be amused

It will be gratifying to those interested in The Tribune Fresh-Air Fund to learn of the work done in that department last week. No less than twenty-five parties left the city with 1,531 children for the two weeks' outing. The destinations for the first half of the week have already been published. The excursions beginning Thursday morning were bound for Franklin County, Penn., West Winfield, Madilla Forks, Hightstown, Quincy, Mass., Burkington, Penn., Chaumot, N. Y., Towanda, Penn., Austinville, New-Haven Conn., and Passale Bridge. There are also thirteen companies arranged for to-day and to-morrow, and others will be scattered over the remaining days this

.622.848 17 Total, August 11, 1888 GEN. ALGER ON GEN. SHERIDAN'S FAMILY. HE URGES PROMPT ACTION BY CONGRESS IN BEHALF

OF THE WIDOW AND FOUR CHILDREN. Ex-Governor Russell A. Alger, of Michigan, cam back to New-York yesterday from Washington, where he went after attending the reception to Mr. Blain on Friday evening, to be present at the funeral of Gen eral Sheridan. To-day General Alger will go to Nar ragansett Pier, returning to New-York on Wednesday meet with the Republican National Executive Committee. He was seen at the Fifth Avenue Hotel last evening by a Tribune reporter, and in speaking of Gen eral Sheridan, he said : 'I feel the General's death keenly, for you remem ber he was my predecessor in the command of my regiment, the 2d Michigan Cavalry. Our relations were intimate, and since the war they have been as much as possible maintained. I am very solicitous about the welfare of the interesting family he has left-not only interesting but helploss, I may say. The General has left a very insufficient estate for their support and the education of his four little children. His wife was a sweet little girl, only, when he married her; she is a sweet little woman now. But she has no idea of business, in which respect she is quite unlike Mrs. Logar who is a thorough business woman. "I am exceedingly anxious about the bill which has been introduced in the Senate in her behalf. It ought to be made a law without delay. It is useless to express sympathy for her if the words are not accompanied by acts. If there is a family in this country which ought to be generously dealt with, it is 'Phil' owes for his creat and brilliant services, but it can provide for his wife and children, and it cannot be done too liberally. It would be a burning shame to permit Mrs. Sheridan to struggle along with an insufficient income, in the education of her children. She ought to be placed not only above want, but above care, and be enabled to maintain her position without anxiety about the future. Besides being the wife of one of the most brilliant Generals of the country, she is the daughter of a faithful officer of the Army, who has little to show for his extended service, except his sword and his untarnished record. I trust that some admirer of General Sheridan's gallant deeds will use his influence with Congress to make prompt and liberal provision for his family.

General Alger said that he hoped the Republicans of the East would not be misled by Democratic boasting about Michigan. "We will carry our State by a handsome malority," he said. "We are not the kind of people who lie down and get beaten. I have just seen Mr. Blaine, and he has promised to spend several days of the campaign with us. We will give him a rousing welcome in the Northwest." owes for his great and brilliant services, but it

A PRETTY SINGER BACK FROM EUROPE.

MISS LAURA MOORE RETURNS TO STAR WITH M'CAULL'S OPERA COMPANY.

Miss Laura Moore, John A. McCaull's new star, rrived here yesterday on the steamer La Bourgogne. Miss Moore is now staying at the Victoria Hotel, where she received some visitors yesterday. She will begin in September an engagement with Mr. McCaull, of thirty weeks, making her first appearance in " Boccaccio.

Miss Moore is an attractive blonde with a vivacious manner. She is a St. Louis woman, but will be remembered here from her connection-" unpleasant experience" she puts it-with the lamented National Opera Company, two years ago. She joined the company at Philadelphia and made her debut there in the Academy of Music. She also sang in "Orpheus," and remained with the company four months. Miss Moore then returned to Paris and resumed her studies at the Conservatory of Music. She studied there two years, took the first prize and achieved several triumphs. Once she was engaged to sing in Amboiso Thomas's "Hamlet," "but" said Miss Moore laughingly, " Hamlet was so tall and I am so short that I was not willing to sing."

But Miss Moore's efforts, it appears, were pleasing to M. Thomas and he gave her an elegant picture of himself and kissed her hand approvingly. Miss Moore knows M. Delibes also and others of the French composers whose music she has sung. She has a high voice, of long range, and many of her friends here are destrous of knowing whether the pleasant reports of her success in Paris will materialize here and make her a favorite. her a favorite.

Some di ner stage costumes will dazzle the front lights. Of course they were made in Paris. An alleged description of one of the dresses which she will wear in "Beccaccio" is that it is a brocaded silk embroidered with pearis and sliver. A bonnet, shaped like a helmet, goes with the dress and has a veil of astonishing length.

THE REPUBLICAN OUTLOOK.

General Horace Porter in The Epoch.

As far as I can judge, the accessions to the ranks of the Republican party are increasing daily, and unless some great change in political seantment occurs between now and November, I have no doubt of a sweeping Republican vetory at the pils. The epublicans are in no fear of losing a single State which they carried four years ago. General Harrison's personal popularity, the tariff question and the sentiment prevailing in Indiana in favor of electing a President from that state, which has never yet had a President, will, without doubt, carry Indiana. Connecticut is a large manufacturing State and there is not much apprehension that it will not be carried by the Republicans this year. New-Jersey will go Republican unless the Prohibitionists draw too large a vote from the Republican ranks, which is not likely. New-York, while some time ago regarded as a doubtful State, seems now to offer an encouraging chance in favor of the epublican partly. For many years the Republicans in the State have been waging a warfare of factions which greatly reduced their strength; now the factions are thoroughly united and there are no balky horses in the team. The Democrats, on the other hand, are badily divided and must suffer from the demoralization consequent upon such divisions.

SELECTIONS FROM THE MAIL. NO FEAR OF CALIFORNIA'S REPUBLICANISM.

To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: Let me add a word to what has already been said to reassure the friends of American Industry as to the vote of the Pacific Slope. Oregon has spoken. and the population of the northern section is similar to that of the contiguous State. But the point of most importance is the enormous increase of population in Southern California. Every one is aware of the immense influx of people into that section within the last three years. It has been so marked as to be almost phenomenal. As the main road of travel is over the Santa Fe route, I have had many opportunities to study the character of the people thus moving; as many as 800 having been in Santa Fe on a single day, when the cheap excursions were being run. They are not ordinary immigrants. It is safe to say that three-quarters-at certain seaso seven-eighths-of them are from the cold districts of the Northwest, including Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa Minnesota and Dakota. They told an almost uniform story of long and severe winters and of a determination to find a more congenial climate. They are solid, substantial citizens, all with more or solid, substantial citizens, all with more or less means, usually accumulated during their life in the Northwest. It is fair to presume that at least three-quarters of this new element in California is Republican in politics. This is an under-estimate, rather than the reverse. So if there were any defection there, it would be made up ten-fold by the new Republican population; but, in fact, there is no appreciable defection. Too many industries in California would be entirely struck down by a refusal to protect them against cheap foreign labor for free-trade to flourish there. The Californians have had an experience of competition with the thousands of Chinese cheap laborers; they do not propose to try the experiment of competition with the millions of cheap laborers in all the countries of the globe.

Santa Fe, N. M., July 16, 1888. TWO NETTA GUIONS ON THE BOARDS.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: A lady calling herself "Netta Guion," and whose name appears in the courts as Miss Elizabeth Cortylon, has caused me no little annoyance by adopting my name and bringing it to public notice in her difference between herself and manager. I do not question the right of Miss Cortylon to take whatever nom-de-theatre she may select to gain a reputation in the calling she has chosen, but, as Netta Guion is my family as well as professional name, I do not wish to be confounded with her. If you will kindly insert the above in your paper you will greatly oblige

THE BIRTHPLACE OF GENERAL SHERIDAN.
To the Editor of The Tribune.
Sh: In your admirable article on Sheridan, and in such other notice as I have seen in various journals since his death, the place of his birth is stated as Somerset, Perry County, Ohio. This is a mistake, as I learn from the highest authority. In an article which General Sheridan revised on his sick-bed, July 26, for the forthcoming fifth volume of "Appleton's Cyclopaedia of American Biography," he gives Albany Cyclopaedia of American Biography, he gives Albady, N. Y., as his birthplace. As a man may and must be accepted as competent authority on this point, our State can most happily henceforth include Philip Henry Sheridan among her most illustrious sons. Shall we not honor him with a sultable statue in the metropolis of his native State!

JAMES GRANT WILSON.

West Point, Aug. 10, 1888. HOW THE SURPLUS COULD BE REDUCED AT ONCE.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: I wish to suggest the policy of advocating a bill in Congress for the immediate abolition of the tax on tobacco. If the Democrats are sincere in wanting reduction of the surplus, they cannot refuse to vote for this measure without showing the country that it is the tariff only that they are aiming at, and that their vote on the Mills bill, in which, I believe, this tax is abolished, was only given as a compromise, to secure a reduction on the tariff. If the Democrats are honest, this measure could pass both houses in a few If they would vote against it, would it not place them in a bad position? I write this, knowing you have great influence with members of Congress, and believing you have always worked for the best in terest of the country at large. I have no idea that any tariff bill can be passed, but this bill could be passed before a tariff bill could be presented. New-York, Aug. 6, 1888. C. H. B.

NOT A SUCCESSFUL WORKING THEORY. fo the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: In matters of pure science theories are great value to the investigator in enabling him, not only to account for existing phenomena, but to predict results which will follow certain antecedents Now, when it is found that these predictions are verified by subsequent experience, and that the theory is in agreement throughout with observed facts, the advanced, to be accepted or abandoned according as it explains existing phenomena or not, and enables future phenomena to be predicted. It was a theory of the ancients that the sun revolved about the earth but as theory and observed facts were not in accord, the theory had to give way, notwithstanding the opposition of the good people who held that the earth was flat. Twenty-five years ago our good friends. the free traders, and our neighbors " across the pond, would have prophesied for us that the continuance of a high protective tariff would find the United States of America one of the bankrupt nations of the world in less. Now, since between the facts and the theory there is such discord, would it not be well for the contented and prosperous people of this great republic to reject the free trade theory on the 6th of next November?

changed. There is not a collector of customs, or of internal revenue, or a foreign minister left, who is not a Chycland Democrat. Civil service Democrats are accustomed to point with price to "a Republican postmaster in New-York City," but even that single case hardly counts when it is remembered that same P. M. helped to elect Cleveland four years ago.

IRISHMEN AGAINST CLEVELAND. OPPOSING HIS FREE-TRADE POLICY.

RAPID GROWTH OF THE MOVEMENT IN THIS CITY,

NEW-JERSEY AND KINGS COUNTY. The revolt among Irish-Americans from the Demoeratic party and its corrupt and un-American methods thrives and grows. John Devoy, as head of the Irish-American Anti-Cleveland and Protective League, was early at the headquarters of that organization yesterday morning, at No. 174 Fifth-ave., and answered a pile of letters that were awaiting him from different parts of the State. Afterward he started for Jersey City in company with J. P. Rvan and Dr. Carroll, of Philadelphia, to attend a meeting at Taylor's Hotel, which was presided over by William J. Byrnes. Representatives were present from the several Assembly Districts in Hudson County. A long list of names was handed to Richard Alien, the secretary. They were approved and admitted. A committee of three was appointed from each Assembly District to canvass the Irish-American voters and win as many recruits as possible for the cause of Protection. Several of the members of these sub-committees handed in lists of the names and addresses of men in various parts of the State known to be in sympathy with the objects of the League. was decided to have a mass-meeting on an early day and also a series of district meetings while awaiting this. Charman Byrnes reported that he found the feeling against Cleveland stronger among Irishmen than it was in 1884.

Philip J. McGrath, the leading opponent of ex-Master Workman Quinn, of District Assembly No. 49, who is now acting master workman pending the set tlement of the dispute, is working among the Irish in Kings County. In Brooklyn particularly he is making good headway. William M. Broner, Michael Tully and John Carroll are also working carnestly promise to show some good results and from their labor.

In Marcellus Falls, N. Y., M. J. Lawless, a pron ment cit.zen who worked for Blaine in 1884, is organizing now for Harrison, and sends encouraging reports of the progress that is being made. has also been started in Irvington-on-the-Hudson.

In Trenten, N. J., a central organization has been formed and arrangements made for starting clubs throughout Mercer County. At Glens Falls and Ballston Spa, N. Y., the anti-

Cleveland Irishmen are also busy, and even in the hitherto unorganized cities of Baltimere and Wilmington, Del., there will be a good account given of the sons of Erin, who have no relish for British free trade.

Mr. Devoy states further that in this city they are not letting the grass grow under their feet. In the Hd Assembly District, Patrick H. Keating, John O'Leary and John McCann have started out to gather in recrults among their fellow countrymen to the great army of protection. Robert Blissert, Thomas Fencer and John Tynan are handling the men in the IIId Assembly District, and in the IVth John M. Spillane and John M. Devine put their hands to the plough. John Devoy himself lives in the VIIIth, and he says, and so does John W. Nolan and Samuel Shaw, who dwell in the same district, that before Grover Cleveland is elected President they will have to know the reason why.

The men of the Vth have headquarters at No. 193 Spring-st. William Semple, T. Smith and William Scanian are working up matters there, and John Hynes and E. F. Church are finding out what car be done in the 1st District. The XVIIIth Assembly District was organized by J. P. Ryan and a meeting was held last night at No. 882 Sixth-ave.

The XVIth Assembly District is in good working order. The men meet at No. 237 Third-ave, and have had a handsome transparency put up. Niall Breslin is the president of the club and he has with him one of the eleverest and most capable of the workers ong young leish-Americans in the city, James Palles.

The XXIId held a meeting at No. 1,551 Second-ave. last night and put up a transparency. James Me-Euroe is of the opinion that when his organization has reached all the men in the XIVth District, which meets at No. 177 First-ave., they will be able to give a good account of themselves.

Edward Whalen, Luke McEvoy and David J. Naughton report that in the XXIIId District matters are going on well, and that when the real work begins about September they will stand second to none.

The Executive Committee of the Irish-American Anti-Free-Trade League met at its headquarters, No. 141 Eighth-st., last night, A. L. Morrison presiding. theory is then dignified by the name law, as, for inembly District, which has a voting poabout 17,000, were present. This district was carried for Henry George when he ran for Mayor. Jeremiah B. Murphy and James Carey were also on hand. They represent the XVth Assembly District, which was another George stronghold, and none worked harder to make it so that did these two men. They are now as zealously laboring for the triumphant election of Harrison and Morton. T. F. Breslin, treasurer of the League, was also on hand, and so was Captain Maurice Cox, of the 69th Regiment, representing the VIII District. He states that most of the members of his company will vote the Republican ticket. Thomas Martin, from the Xth, who marched at the head of a large body of men from that district, to take part in the parade last Thursday night, reported that he has many Cermans as well as Irishmen in the club, while bergeant Joseph F. Johnson, of the 69th Regiment, a veteran in politics, who also took an active part in the Henry George campaign, has marshalled a large body of earnest Irish-Americans in the VIIII Assembly District. "By election day," said he, Mr. Chairman, we will stand second to none." the League, was also on hand, and so was Captain to none."

Reports from the representatives of the other districts were equally encouraging, though the members of this organization as well as those of Mr. Devoy's organization complain of the difficulty of inding halls for their permanent headquarters in the several districts, the Democratic party doing all it can all them. Captain P. J. Howe, of the Mith, said that the menhis district were only waiting for a local headquarters to raily for Harrison and Morton.

Chairman Morrison gave an interesting account of the arrival of Mr. Blaine, who, he said, greeted him warmly and asserted that he was glad to see his old allies of 1854 standing by the Chicago nominees of 1866. Mr. Morrison added that Mr. Blaine promised to send a written reply to the address presented him in behalf of the League.

RECRUITS FROM EVERY PARTY. DEMOCRATS, GREENBACKERS, PROHIBITIONISTS AND OTHERS RALLYING AROUND THE REPUBLICAN STANDARD.

Indianapolis, Aug. 12 (Special).—The nominations of the Republican State Convention on last Wednesday have been received with enthusiastic commendation throughout Indiana, and the campaign managers are much gratified over the outlook. The members of the Lincoln League, which now represents a most im portant part of the party organization, have gone to work, and have already accomplished much in a pre-liminary way. The reports that have been received at the State headquarters of the league are encourage ing. One club from the lower part of the State re ports 102 members, thirteen of whom were formerly Lemograts. This is no uncommon thing. In all the rosters that have been sent in the significant note, "Formerly a Democrat," is found, and in many of the clobs it appears with a frequency that shows considerable of a change in the political complexion of the state. In a large took is kept a register of the league, and in the list of 11,000 voters who are enrolled there may frequently be found opposite the names such remarks as "Formerly a Democrat," "A Confederate solder," "Voted for Cloveland," "Democrat until last election," "Alwars been a Democrat," "Re-publican on the tariff question," "Formerly a Pro-hibitionist," "Editor," "Speaker," and so on. Many of the young men who have been tending toward the Prohibition party are now coming back to the Republicans One of the significant features of the campaign is that a large number of Greenbackers, formerly Republicans, but who have been out of harmony with the party for some time, are renewing their allegiance to party for some time, are renewing their allegiance to the banner of their first adoption. The Democratic statement that the Greenbackers are hostile to Gen-eral Harrison is not borne out by the data that has been received so far. The gain, from the Prohibitionists is another significant feature. Reports show that many men who have formerly been identified with that party are severing their con-nection with it said propose to act with the kepub-licans this year.

President Taylor, of the League, says that the percentage of Republicans among the first votors will this year be considerably increased. In his own township the percentage of Republicans among the first votors is at biast four to one, while the total vote shows only two to one Republicans. The prediction of Logan is being verified in many headquarters of the state, and the committee looks forward to the work among the young men with strong Loges of success.

whose fathers were dissipated men into our ranks. They find company there more congenial."

A BRITISH FREE TRADER CONVERTED. THE LOT OF THE AMERICAN LABORER A HAPPY ONE.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 12 (Special).-T. J. Macof the firm of Marcus Ward & Co., Belfast, Ireland, is in St. Paul. He is travelling in the inerest of his firm, has travelled through many of the Northern States and taken particular pains to acquaint himself with the people, and especially the workingmen. To a reporter he said: "I came to this country a Free Trader, as most of the people of Great Britain are, but since visiting many parts of the United States I am convinced that the American system of protection is for the interest of the whole country, and especially the laboring classes. I find that the workingmen of the United States are in better homes, are better educated and have more luxuries, and are in much better condition than the workingmen of England. The reason for this is that they get better wages by from 15 to 100 per cent than the same class on the other side of the Atlantic. They spend more money because they have it to spend. The cost of some things they purchase is not more than from 5 to 10 per cent more than the cost in England. This condition of affairs is due to protection. Protected labor in America has advantages far superior to free-trade labor in England. Facility people are Free Traders because they believe in the theories of the magnificent John Bright, but I can see that the free trade which helped England to greatness has begun to injure her now. We compete with the foreign markets of the world and our laboring classes suffer the consequence. I also find here in the United States that the laboring men own their homes in many instances, and that they are enabled through building societies and steady employment to creet and pay for them. It is a rare instance in England for a workman to own his home. The protective system is the solution of this problem, and I believe that the people of the United States would make a grave mistake if they should adopt free trade in place of protection." Atlantic. They spend more money because they have

THE TRIBUNE STILL AHEAD. TOURISTS IN THE NORTH WOODS GET THEIR PAPERS BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Hulett's Landing, N. Y., Aug. 12 (Special).—The Tribune still ahead! The special Tribune yacht left Hulett's Landing at 6:25 a. m. with a very large supply of the Sunday edition and was cheered as she touched the various landings. The bundles were at once opened, hardly giving time to make change, so eager were the people to secure their favorite paper. The houses on the lake are now filled to overflowing, and from present indications the season will last until into September, many engagements being booked for that Grand Hotel, Catchills, Aug. 12 (Special).-This mountain was deenched with rain last night and this morning, but the clouds lifted about noon, and the sun came out beautifully while it was raining hard down in the valley. The Sunday Tribune came about 10 a.m., and as usual there was a big rush for the news. Nearly everybody seemed to want The Tribune. and, as usual, the supply was exhausted in a few minutes, with a generous bundle of ponderous Democratic dailies still on hand. populous with visitors than at any previous date this season. Many prominent people are here. Elizabethtown, N. Y., Auz. 12 (Special.—At 5:30 this morning a large package of Sunday Tribunes reached this place and met with ready sale among the crowd of city guests at the hotels. A special pony express carried a large supply to Keene Valley, besides Cascade Lake and intermediate points, where visitors anxionsly awaited the paper's arrival. All the summer resorts on the Chauteaugay Rallroad had teams at the station ready for the supply of Tribunes, and at every point the paper received the warmest praise for its entorprise.

A MUCH NEEDED REFORM.

From The Boston Advertiser.

It is said that many Americans abroad this summer are becoming economical to a degree that disguists hotel people and shookeepers. It is to be hoped this is true. American extravagance has heretofore been accused of demoralising foreign tradespeople. It is about time our travelling country people come to their economic senses.
